To Whom It May Concern:

Peter Johnson of Web Explorations is the most remarkable Instructional Course Designer that I have had the privilege of working with in over 30 years of online experience.

This past year Dimensional Learning Solutions was notified that our current Adaptive Platform had been sold to a major corporation that did not plan to continue the current platform beyond January 1, 2021. As a result, we had to find a way to convert our courses mid-year to a new platform with minimal interruption to our students.

When we met with other companies, we were told the conversion was going to be a long and arduous process which would definitely interrupt our ability to deliver our courses to our online students.

Through our partnership with South Central Services Cooperative we were introduced to and worked with Peter Johnson to convert our 380 hour online NCLEX course for nurses in Asia.

Peter, to everyone's amazement, was able to complete the course conversion in just two months. His "can-do" attitude and use of adaptive learning, graphics, multimedia language translation and simulations definitely moved our interactive NCLEX course to the next level. Combine these traits with his concern for how students learn and our students in Taiwan and other places in Asia couldn't be happier and more satisfied with our new course.

Thank you Peter!!

Sincerely,
